- Satisfaction knowing all of your relevant staff have access to ASME's exclusive benefits
- Increased collaboration within your team or department through knowledge sharing
- Promoting a culture of innovation
- Demonstrating your commitment to the practice of multidisciplinary engineering
- Helping your staff hone their skills with access to technical resources, training, conferences and events
- Significant savings as Group Membership program participants

How it works.

Each participating company or academic institution submits the names of all of their eligible professional staff in one batch and makes a single payment for all, and we do the rest (you need a minimum of 10 individuals to participate).*

* Group Members receive a special first year introductory dues rate and preferred pricing on renewals.
